

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A BTL amplifying apparatus has two power amplifiers in an BTL configuration for amplifying a speaker. It includes detection means for detecting a differential voltage between outputs from the two power amplifiers while an input signal to be supplied to the power amplifiers is muted, and decision means for deciding whether or not the differential voltage is larger than a prescribed voltage. Such a configuration prevent the speaker from being damaged.